

The perfect Christmas present Elizabeth Arden
 6 ISSUES for only £9 + FREE GIFT

VOGUE.COM

Has Naomi Campbell found a new m

RECEIVE FASHION NEWS EVERY DAY GO ▶

SEARCH DAILY NEWS SHOWS VIDEO TRENDS SHOP BEAUTY PEOPLE & PARTIES COMPETITION BLOGS COVERS BUY PRINTS SUBSCRIBE

Vogue.com's oracle 2008

the new high street megastar...

the designer...

Angelo Katsapis

current rating after 113 votes

Every girl needs a few show-stopping dresses in her wardrobe and thanks to Australian designer Angelo Katsapis there'll be something a little different on offer when he launches his debut collection in the spring. The 28-year-old designer already has over 15 years experience in the fashion industry - he started his career in quality control and patternmaking before moving to Milan to work as senior designer for Giorgio Armani. Having spent five years making beautiful eveningwear and red carpet dresses for VIP clientele and launching the debut Armani Privé haute couture collection, Katsapis is now concentrating on his label, angelokatsapis - designed to be "occasion pieces with a modern intellect, attitude and sensibility". We see big things ahead: those hand-painted, structured dresses in beautiful silk-lined fabrics that contour the body without constricting it are already hitting fashion headlines.

Find the Lacoste fashion capitals and discover a thousand gift ideas.

52°27'N
13°18'E

CLICK HERE

Send us your comments

Name (optional)

Comment

Send

back to list

Finally!! - A breath of fresh air!!

Post by Anonymous on 3 December 2007 7:27 PM

wow love the dress and the model...where can i see more?

Post by Anonymous on 4 December 2007 5:08 AM

I am Angelo's cousin living in Australia and I like to say I am very proud he has been successful with his own label. We are very proud of him. His clothes are inspirational,